

Yasir Syeed
 Founder of Green Zabiha, producing organic, halal pastured, grass-fed meats and devoted to promoting the importance of conscious eating.

Nancy Chen
 Professor of anthropology at University of California at Santa Cruz, a medical anthropologist who examines cultural practices of self care through eating and medicating.

Nigel Savage
 Founder of Hazon, the largest environmental organization in the American Jewish community, creating healthy and sustainable communities in the Jewish world and beyond.

Elbert van Donkersgoed
 Now an agricultural journalist and consultant, served for over three decades as the Strategic Policy Advisor of the Christian Farmers Federation of Ontario.

April 15, 2011
2:30-5 pm
Great Hall, Hart House
University of Toronto

See <http://rps.chass.utoronto.ca/> for further details

A Religion in the Public Sphere Forum on food and religion

Organized by the Department for the Study of Religion's Religion in the Public Sphere Initiative, with co-sponsorship from the Centre for Jewish Studies, the School of Public Policy, and Greening Sacred Spaces.